Usage:

2. Go to the toolbox and right click on Export Macro
3. For the input for the macro, choose the keyframes that need to be exported, then click on the add button
4. A keyframe will appear on the timeline
5. If you want to edit this keyframe, click on it. You can change the length of the keyframe or the time that the keyframe will appear
6. Click on the macro icon to export all keyframes you have created

Special Note: Keyframes can be exported for a non-timed clip. Keyframes can be exported in different formats, such as.FLS or.FST files. Users simply need to select the FLP file they want to export, then analyze its contents and create an archive.
