Torrent Download. This invention relates generally to the provision of protective covering for carpeting and like floor coverings and, more particularly, to a protective covering of the type useful in the treatment and storage of carpeting and similar floor coverings. In recent years, carpeting which is highly durable and is of superior quality has become available. In the construction of homes, apartments and similar structures, attempts have been made to cover the carpets which are presently available. Most of the carpeting that is presently available is of the textile type which comprises a pile or tufted portion to which a backing is secured for securing the carpet to the floor on which it is placed. While the covering of new carpeting generally is very effective, there are instances where the carpet, for one reason or another, is required to be cleaned or stored over an extended period of time. In the instance of carpeting such as it comes from a source other than the manufacturer of the carpet, it is difficult to readily provide an effective covering for the carpeting until the carpeting has been moved into the house or apartment and is fully installed. When such carpeting is moved into the house or apartment and then becomes covered with dust or other particles, the dust or particles tend to adhere to the carpeting rendering it difficult or impossible to clean. It is, accordingly, a principal object of this invention to provide a covering which may be readily provided for the protection of a carpeting or similar floor covering and which will render it very convenient to clean and store for a period of time before the carpet is actually installed and becomes exposed to the dust and particles which would otherwise adhere to it. It is a further object of this invention to provide a covering of the type which is readily installed and provides protection for the floor covering. It is a still further object of this invention to provide a covering of the type which is effective and provides good protection for the floor covering for a period of time before the carpeting is actually installed. In connection with the foregoing, it has been found desirable to provide a rigid or semirigid backing to the floor covering to assist in maintaining the integrity of the protective covering and to provide a stable platform upon which the covering may be established. However, such rigid or semirigid backings by necessity have tended to restrict the ability to fold and
